

USDA Experiments on Cats

Did you know?-The Department of Agriculture was experimenting on cats and kittens.

Since the 80's, it has used thousands of cats and kittens in taxpayer-funded research to study food borne illness.

Last month, a bipartisan bill described this as "taxpayer-funded kitten slaughter".

There is no excuse for what has been happening to these hopeless animals from senseless government abuse. Finally, the USDA is taking the hint. The U.S Department of Agriculture said it would cease conducting research experiments on cats.

Our voices are all these animals have. We need to be their voice, and put an end to this abuse.

